Celebrating Julie

Laura Jeannin, daughter of Jonathan and Marion, sadly not able to play this concert, will be playing our next set, which celebrates the birth of her daughter Julie Elizabeth Jeannin just over a year ago. The group commissioned Berkeley composer and harpsichordist Sheli Nan to write a celebratory piece for us. The first performances of the piece were in January, and we will also perform it next month in a program that is part of California Festival: A Celebration of New Music www.cafestival.org

It's a large group for this program – sixteen musicians – and the program also includes Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No 3, a Handel Organ Concerto, and a Suite for bass instruments by Johann Michael Nicolai.

the Albany Consort ...

Jonathan Salzedo, Marion Rubinstein and a handful of friends gave the first Albany Consort concert, in London in 1974, at Christ Church (now St George's Cathedral) on Albany Street. Hence the group's name, which seems to have stuck, despite the inevitable but delightful confusion it causes.

The group started as Jonathan's experimental platform, exploring everything 17th and 18th century. Jonathan moved to California in 1981, and since then the group has become a fixture of Bay Area music making. Approaching 50 years of operation, the group does not seem to have run its course, delighting both musicians and audiences with an approach to the music that is always fresh and questioning.

Music in Los Altos ...

has been hosting concerts by The Albany Consort and other Bay Area groups since 2016.
